Dear Sir

Your very kind letter with the enclosed Armenian silver coins was received by Mr. Kirk who turned it over to the committee. We were all surprised and delighted - surprised because the gift was unexpected and delighted to know of one more friend for the sick poor of Constantinople. Or should I have said a friend of Armenians?

My associate asked me to write and thank you, which I do most heartily. The present idea is to dispose of these interesting coins at our next gathering. I am about to arrange what should turn out to be a most enjoyable evening. Mr. John Mulholland, the marvellous magician, has consented to give us a performance in aid of the Hospital fund. I would like to send you a couple of complimentary tickets, if you would care to come - and see impossible things done ^{right} before your eyes! Yours very truly R Constantian

Dear Dr. Constantian:

Your favor at hand thanking me for the gift of the two Armenian coins. I trust that these will bring enough to go a little way towards helping the hospital at Constantinople.

I appreciate your offering of a couple of complimentary tickets to your next gathering and would be pleased to have you send them to me. I certainly will try to be there if possible.

Very truly yours,

Curator
